● Comments:

Dear Mr. Laupa,

I am a plant ecologist based in Boulder Colorado. I am contacting you on behalf of the Colorado Native Plant Society to see if you might have information regarding the holders of the Copyright for the Manual of the Plants of Colorado by H.D. Harrington. This Manual has been out of print for a few decades and is no longer available in book stores. The Colorado Native Plant Society would like to see if it is possible to obtain the copyright and redistribute the book in paper or electronic form, and at some point incorporate the plant descriptions in a database format. The Colorado Native Plant Society is a non-profit organization dedicated to the appreciation and conservation of the Colorado Native flora.

It has been an interesting sleuthing adventure to find you, and it was a pleasure to finally talk with you.

I have attached the information I was able to obtain from the copyright office and it is unclear what the current status of the copyright is and who possesses it. Any information you may have would be greatly appreciated. If the copyright is in the name of your family members, would you please consider the possibility of transferring it to the Colorado Native Plant Society. Thanks.
